THE GAOL AND ITS MEDICAL

ARRANGEMENTS. Amongst the questions respecting Gaol routine, to which the manslaughter case now under trial gives rise, is that of proper medical attendance. We do not allude to the, doubtless satisfactory, qua lifications of the gentleman who holds the appointment of Colonial Surgeon, but to the regulations which have been framed so as to keep an intimate acquaintance with the health of the inmates constantly before the knowledge of the medical officer. The testimony given at the police court throws but little light upon this subject, which is quite apart from a due attendance upon the sick. We would therefore enquire whether the same routine prevails in Victoria Gaol as is carried out at home in Convict and Military, an opinion and a will of his own and District and Barrack, prisons, and on board ships in Her Majesty's Navy? In these there is not merely a periodical type of his predecessor! Perhaps it is and necessary attendance upon the sick, all for the best. Were it otherwise but those who are, or believe themselves to horrible thought—we might have a "pobe, in health are daily reviewed by medical litical element" in China and Hongkong, officers, especial attention being paid to and to have banished so dangerous and those who, being prisoners, are sentenced to hard labour. By this means many small end achieved. Were it otherwise, which would accelerate such a result. It is perfectly obvious to the least re. Naval authorities—and especially those flective that Asiatic prisoners require of the United States men-of-war now in even more watching in this way than the this harbour—to the results which have board, or to the Office of the Company, more hardy peoples of the west. They already, in two cases, followed the pracare almost always reluctant to resort to tice of permitting the sailors to land European medical aid, while their lump with their knives. Jack of whatever of life is "snuffed out" with an ease | nation is, as we all know, prone to rows, which is sometimes startling. It does and the probabilities of his getting drunk not seem that it has hitherto been the or excited by liquor are unfortunately practice to hold a daily medical muster very great. Especially is this the case of the healthy prisoners in the gaol, while in ports like this, where the vilest and it does seem that if such were the case | most maddening liquid poison is so easily there would be less danger of Asiatics obtained for a small sum. So long who had not tasted food for some days as leave, with money, is granted this is and who were "looking badly," being scarcely preventible, but there is no reapermitted to proceed to work at what is, as | son why the means of inflicting knife it ought to be, " hard labor " for those in wounds should be left in the hands of perfect health. We do not cast any im. | the drunken fellows who thus disgrace putation upon the manuer in which the their ship and endanger the lives of hospital duties of the gaol are carried peaceable citizens. TAME LITTLE DOGS! THE patience exhibited by the China commercial public is of so marvellous a nature that we are beginning to believe Under the Convention recently concluded that we have at last veritably found a community where being smitten on the will be delivered free at the places one cheek leads to the other being offered for a second blow. 'Nearly three months' ago we announced, upon the best authority, that the revision of the Treaty hold an inquisition of treasure trove 26my had been postponed. Anybody who was respecting the coins.

aware that memorials had been presented to the home Government and the Minis. ter at Peking, solely relating to this very subject, would have imagined that even a rumour to such an effect would have led to enquiry, or discussion on the part of the various Chambers of Commerce_ the more so as every journal in China has in more or less direct terms, and, in some cases at least, from independent sources, given its readers a similar announcement. But so benumbing is the influence of residence in this part of the world upon the European mind, that, despite the trouble which has been taken to place their views on record, despite the obviously real necessity of modifying. if not revising, the existent treaty,-despite all this, the mercantile communities assume the expectant attitudes of a circle of little dogs around their master, scarcely shewing the anxiety which those intelligent quadrupeds evince about anything in which they are interested by a wag of

at the Treaty ports we can do nothing but congratulate their residents upon the admirable temper which they display and, it is just possible, hint a somewhat un-quakerlike contempt, for the extent to which they carry their forgiving principles. But we may be of some use to Hongkong, and venture to throw out a few hints for those of our readers who are desirous of evincing in a still more unmistakable manner, their appreciation of the rod which strikes, or the foot which kicks them. The Chairman of the Chain. ber of Commerce might, for instance. propose an unanimous vote of censure on Messis Dent & Co. at Hankow for their wicked conduct in the tea-dust business and this might be followed by a vote of distrust in the Commercial Community generally. Both of these motions would doubtless be adopted, and nothing would then remain but to draw up a memorial expressive of the regret felt by the mem. bers that they should have-quite unconsciously-ventured to forward resolutions so diametrically opposed to the Minister's opinions, as those contained in their last memorial. It is difficult to suggest anything else in these modern days of civilisation. Were the date a few centuries back, the Chairman might be decorated with flowers and, like the calf of old, slaughtered amidst surrounding plaudits, as an appeasing sacrifice to the justly incensed old woman of the capital. Although the loss would be nothing, modern society forbids the needless sacrifice of even useless lives. And so the little dogs of Hongkong must wag their little tails in peaceful innocence of any such exciting spectacle. We hear a good deal, now-a-days, about the "merchant princes" of former times who acted as if they were indeed "rulers among men." There is much congratulation that monopoly has ceased, and that it is possible to be considered a gentleman in China without being a millionaire or a millionaire's clerk. But we are tempted to wish for a few months of the old regime, when a British merchant had made them felt. The "merchant" of to-day is politically but a degenerate troublesome a pest from our shores is no cases of incipient illness are detected where would our Chamber of Commerce which might otherwise result in the find itself?

I shall not undertake to repeat a debate of which the telegraph has long since informed you. Enough to say that court and audience were deeply attentive to every word that dropped from the lips of counsel and managers. There was no opportunity for eloquence—there was no attempt at it. It was soon apparent, however, that Butler was the brains of the managers, and that Stanbery would lead for the defence. Nelson is a mere make-weight, selected by Mr Johnson from personal considerations. Stanbery and Curtis, out of a spirit of courtesy, conceded to him a prominen place in the argument, but his speech was weak, diffuse, full of repetitions, and altogether a failure. Bingham spoke well clearly and to the point, and with far more calmness and deliberation than are usua with him. Wilson of Iowa acquitted him self with credit. He has a good head, a well stored mind, and a pleasing manner, but Ben Butler, who is one of the ablest criminal lawyers in the country, completely overshadowed his associates. He spoke in a loud voice, a little cracked, but still distinctly audible, and made his points , with skill, something of fire, and with an air of entire sincerity. his usual savage invective against Mr Johnson, and one was almost imposed upon to believe that he would be glad if the President "should find a safe deliverance." need not repeat what the telegraph has already told you—that the trial was fixed for the 23d of March, ten days being allowed, instead of the forty asked for, within which to file answer. The result is looked upon as fatal to Mr Johnson. The shortest time was fixed upon on a call of the ayes and noes by a strict party vote-40 to 10, and that is considered as conclusive of the re sult. For myself, I have had but one opinion from the start, and the developments to each day but confirm it.

Above 4 ounces and not exceeding 8 onnces, . . . 12 ,, Above 8 onnces and not exceeding 12 ounces, . . . 18 ,, Above 12 ounces and not exceeding 16 ounces, . . 24 ,, For every additional 4 ozs.,

Under 4 ounces. .

The Postage must in all cases be paid in advance Special attention is directed to the following Rules and Regulations which will be strictly enforced :-AS REGARDS BOOKS. A Book Packet may contain any number of separate Books, Almanacks, Maps or Prints, and any quantity of paper, vellum or parchment (to the exclusion of letters whether sealed or open); and the Books,

Maps, Paper, &c., may be either printed, written or plain, or any mixture of the All legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of the same or of a portion thereof, will be allowed, whether such binding be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints, markers (whether of paper or otherwise,) in the case of Books, and in short whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of literary or artistic matter or usually appertains thereto. Every Book packet must be either without a cover, or in a cover open at the ends

It must not contain any letter, open or sealed, nor any sealed enclosure whatever. No packet must exceed two feet in length, breadth or depth; exceeding these dimensions it cannot be forwarded through the

the second

AS REGARDS PATTERNS They must not be of intrinsic value. This rule excludes all articles of a salcable nature, and indeed, whatever may have a value of its own, apart from its niere use as a pattern; and the quantity of any material sent ostensibly as a pattern must not be so great that it can fairly be considered as having on this ground an intrinsic value, There must be no writing or marks other than the address of the person for whom the packet is intended, a trade mark and numbers, and prices of the articles; otherwise the Packet will be detained or forwarded charged as an unpaid letter.

The Patterns must be sent in covers open at the ends, so as to be easy of examination. Samples however, of seeds, drugs and so forth, which cannot be sent in open covers, may be enclosed in bage of linen or other material, tied at the neck; bags so closed that they cannot readily be opened even although they be transparent, must not be used for this purpose. Non-compliance with this rule will also subject the packet to be detained, or forwarded as an

The Packets or the contents thereof must not contain any inclosure, sealed or otherwise closed against inspection. In all other respects the general regulations of the Book Post will apply to the Pattern Post. Under these regulations, in order to prevent any interruption to the regular transmission of letters, a Packet of Patterns may, when it is necessary be ken back for the following Mail by which, the ordinary course, it would be forwarded. The decision of the Postmaster General as to the eligibility of any Packet, pattern, or sample contained therein, to be forward-

VII., for estimating prices, measurement of goods, exchanges, &c. have been selected from those constantly in use been selected from those constantly in use among the foreign merchants in China. Those for calculating the prices of tea in dollars or pence have been copied from the more extended tables, by the kind permission of the author, P. Loureiro, Esq. The last section of the same chapter, on "Movements in Bullion," has been prepared and furnished for the Guide by Patrick R. Harper, Esq., of the Commercial Bank of India at Hongkong, who has had much experience in the exchanges and movements of the precious metals in Eastern Asia.

"The Appendix of Sailing Directions has been reprinted from the 'China Pilot.' With short interruptions, the coasts from Singapore to Hakodadi are all described in it; and for the Chinese coasts, the Directions have been improved by the insertion of the Chinese characters for the names of all places that could be ascertained."
